

System and Method for Detecting Potential Counterfeiting of Print Cartridges

ABSTRACT

A method for detecting potential counterfeiting of print cartridges includes transmitting a message regarding date information stored on a print cartridge installed in a printing device, the message being transmitted to a monitoring server.